DIED

In Holy Cross Hospital, Calgary, on October 26th, 1924, Allen Patrick, beloved son of Mr. and Mrs. John Shaw, aged six years and seven months.

God gave to us a little boy To train for Him and heaven; We took the little gift with joy, Thankful that it was given.

But God saw fit again to take Our lovely little dove, And though the parting breaks our hearts, We hope to meet above.

—Daddie and Mother.

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. and Mrs. John Shaw desire to express their sincere thanks to all who were so kind during our time of sorrow, in the loss of our dear little Allen. Kindness at a time like this is not soon forgotten.

The result of the elections in Great Britain turned out to be a Conservative landslide, and the Conservatives will have in the House more than two to one than all who can be against them. Their total of seats at present is 398.

Mrs. Lebeau has returned from an extended visit with friends in Ontario.

Rev. Mr. Brunton left here on Wednesday evening for Edmonton, to attend a meeting of the Synod.

The Black and White service station, Billy Rannels, proprietor, is doubling its gas storage capacity, the additional tanks being installed this week.

Messrs. Rebbe and Shimp were in Gleichen this week conducting a couple of auction sales, their fame getting them business in their line in a very wide area.

The next meeting of the Vulcan Women's Institute will be held at the home of Mrs. Howard Jurney, on November 7th, at three o'clock in the afternoon. Mrs. Kennedy, of Good Deeds institute, will present a paper, subject, "Canadian Immigration and Naturalization." All ladies are cordially invited to attend.

Mr. Harold Bannister, big of stature and prominent in the business and other activities of his town of Okotoks, was in Vulcan on Tuesday. He had a look at our rink, and likes it, and he tells us that work has been started on making the rink at Okotoks ready for winter operation. Mr. Bannister has a big boy on the hockey team which has made fame for his town and, of course, discussed hockey with the people he met here.

With proceeds more than two hundred dollars is proof of the popularity of fowl feasts in Vulcan, for such was realized at the supper on Saturday night under the auspices of the ladies of the Union church. There was enough for all and to spare, and satisfied patrons praise the quality of the food and the excellence of the service. It was a real feast and on hour of social pleasure. In this connection mention can again be made of the excellent facilities afforded by the well equipped dining room at the Odd Fellows' hall.

Monday, November 10, being Thanksgiving day and Armistice day combined and a statutory holiday, all places of business will be closed on that day. The people of this town and district have good reason to be thankful for the bountiful crop harvested and for the very excellent weather that has prevailed during the year and upon this day they can observe the occasion with a degree of satisfaction that they are living in a land free from disorders and where there is a plentiful store of product for the sustenance of the body.

JUNIOR HOCKEY

The organization of the Vulcan Junior Hockey Club was accomplished this week, and under the most auspicious circumstances. The officers are Mayor W. E. Butchart, honorary president; Emile Belisle, president; William H. Scott, secretary and treasurer; Howard Marcellus, manager. The elected officers will constitute the executive. The club will affiliate with the Amateur Hockey Association, and Mr. Scott was delegated to represent the club at a meeting of the association this week. There was a large number of the boys present at the meeting, many of them promising players, and they exhibited splendid interest when they met with dispatch the first demand for finances by contributing their membership fees forthwith. Indicative of the support which the new club will receive was the large attendance of others, several of them members of the local senior team, and all took out a membership in the new organization. The senior team made the offer of a gift of a complete set of sweaters and other equipment, which was gratefully accepted. Other arrangements were made with the other team with the view to realizing the best possible in the matter of training and playing. The boys heard two short and timely addresses, Mayor Butchart making a plea for the observance of every principle of real sportsmanship, and Mr. Marcellus making some pointed remarks about discipline and management. No club could have a better start, and it is now up to the boys, and we think they will make good. The formation of a junior league in the district will depend upon the other towns, and prospects are fine.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wolfe are now occupying their fine new residence, just completed. It is one of the finest in town, and may they long possess it in health and comfort.

Mr. B. R. Lommatsch is looking after the shipping of a load of live poultry to the Egg and Poultry Society, Calgary, some day during the first week in November. Look out for posters giving date of loading. For information call 1009.

Mr. Russell Carruthers, suffering acutely with appendicitis, was conveyed to hospital at Calgary on Saturday, and a successful operation has since been performed, and the patient at present is showing every sign of rapid and permanent recovery.

Work has been started on High River's new covered rink. The ground has been cleared away and the foundation cement work is nearly completed. The work will be rushed so that the building can be roofed before any bad weather sets in and all completed for service as soon as possible.

Vulcan was well represented by young people at the dance in connection with the opening of the new hall at Nanton on Monday night, and they all had a splendid time. This fine new hall comes as a result of an extensive fire in that town some time ago, and is another proof of the fact that it is indeed an ill event that does not result in some good, and Nanton certainly required such a place.

Hockey players and fans held another meeting on Tuesday evening, the chief purpose of which was to advise the club representative who is to attend the coming meeting of the Provincial association. Mr. William Scott will represent Vulcan at the association, and as he did last year, will take good care of local interests. There is every promise of a good team and good hockey at Vulcan this year.

H. E. Elves, auctioneer, Lomond, has announced the sale of live stock, farm equipment and house furniture, by public auction, for the persons named as follows: C. W. Bey, one mile south of Lomond, on November 7th; J. W. Murphy, half mile west of Travers, November 12th; H. Jewsbury, one mile east of Armada, November 14th.

The store block which until recently included the Lindsay hardware is now undergoing extensive alterations and that which was a hardware store will be added to the premises of J. Naismith Co., and when fitted according to plans will give this firm an opportunity to better display their extensive stock of dry goods and furnishings, and the buying public will have the advantage of improved service. This will now indeed be a fine store.

The curlers announce the beginning of their activities by the calling of a meeting for organization on Friday night, and President Collier is desirous of a large attendance. Things look as good, if not a little bit better than ever, for a pleasant and successful season of curling. Then it must be kept in mind that the big bonspiel is to be held this year in Vulcan, and a start can not be made too soon in preparing for an event which curlers will be ambitious to keep up to the high standard of other big events in Vulcan.

Members of the Good Deeds Women's Institute very pleasantly entertained the members of Golden Rule and Kirkcaldy branches, on Thursday, October 23, at the home of Mrs. John Jensen. Each lady present was given a piece of goods and provided with a needle and thread, the idea being a contest in the making of the best button holes, and the first prize went to Mrs. Todd, Mrs. Ohlheimer being second. For the best dressed peanut Mrs. Voisey won first, Mrs. McMasters second, Mrs. Todd third, and Miss Beingsesser fourth. Miss May White rendered a number of piano selections which were much enjoyed. A delicious lunch was served, and was much appreciated by the thirty-five ladies who were present and spent a profitable and pleasant afternoon.

Mrs. Ottewill visited friends at Cardston last week.

Mrs. Scott, of Calgary, was recently the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Naismith.

Mr. J. W. Bateman has made the purchase of a fine new Overland car. Messrs. Beny & Son, local representatives, made the sale.

Miss Jewel Gardner, who leaves this week with her parents and the family for Oregon, has been made the recipient of a gold pencil, the gift of her girl associates in school and church. It is a token of their good wishes for her future success in the new home.

The men arrested at Vulcan some time ago for having rolled a man and getting his harvest earnings, were found guilty and given three years in the pen. It was discovered that they had been there before. For their quick capture Constable Davies has been specially commended by his superior officers.

The school fair exchequer was enriched this week by the sum of $11.00, being a balance in the bank to the credit of a club which has long since ceased to exist, and of which Mr. Gordon, a former bank manager here, was the secretary. It was quite the proper disposition of such a fund, as all the boys and girls will agree.

Somebody in a car failed to make the jog in the street at the depot and on Saturday morning early risers were attracted by the spectacle of an auto with a wheel missing and turned over in the station yard, and just how it got there was explained by broken fence posts and tangled wire near by. No casualties have been reported, and again it is a mystery how such a thing can happen without more serious results.

The large new flag pole, nicely painted, has been firmly erected at the entrance of the playground park. The raising of the flag on this for the first time might appropriately be made the occasion of some fitting ceremony, and this would be in keeping with the splendid idea of teaching a proper regard for the empire emblem that is being promoted by some of our Canadian organizations. The standards for the playground equipment have been erected, but the devices will not now be completely rigged until summer comes again, the rink and other things providing amusement and recreation for the boys and girls in the meantime.

The regular meeting of Redlandview Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. C. Hall on October 22, ten members and three visitors being present. Mrs. Stager presided, and after regular order of business it was decided to have the pupils of Highland, Red Cross and Mayview schools examined by Dr. Carson at his earliest convenience. The lunch served was all that could be desired, and then some. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Stager on November 5th, and this is to be "Grandmothers' Day" when all who can are expected to attend and bring grandma along. On this occasion also, Dr. Barker of Vulcan will deliver an address, subject, "Care of the Teeth."

Death has again visited the community, this time claiming the young son of Mr. and Mrs. John Shaw, residents just east of Vulcan a mile or two. Allan Patrick Shaw, the deceased, was in his seventh year, and had just started to school. He became afflicted with whooping cough, and while suffering with the same was suddenly and severely taken with appendicitis. He was hurriedly taken to the hospital at Calgary and an operation at once performed. His father was with him for a time and had returned to Vulcan, and next day was shocked to receive the message of his death. The funeral took place on Tuesday in Vulcan. Sorrowing parents and other friends have sincere sympathy in their loss.

Mr. John Gardner has sold out and he and the family are going to leave us, starting this week for their new home near Salem in Oregon. Mr. and Mrs. Gardner are old-timers in Alberta and long residents in Vulcan, and one of their family of seven was the first baby born at Vulcan. They are of the kind that we are sorry to lose and would welcome back, having lived for years and maintained the esteem of friends who have been increased as time passed and the population grew. They have contributed their part to community enterprises and its worthy institutions, and leave a farm and a home on the border of the town that is a credit to their labor, and one that gives value and appearance to the district. They have been real citizens and carry with them to Oregon the best wishes of all Vulcan. The place to which they go was traded for the place which they leave, and the new owner here will arrive in a day or two. He is Mr. Robert Brown, a former Alberta man who is coming back, and he and a family of sons and daughters will be welcomed at Vulcan.

Born, in Calgary, on October 20th, 1924, to Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Jantzie, of Vulcan, a daughter.

Miss Sylvia Seaman is at present a patient in hospital at Calgary, suffering as a result of appendicitis, and many friends are hoping for her rapid recovery.

The annual convention of Urban Municipalities will be held in Edmonton on November 5 and 6, and Vulcan will in all probability be represented by one or more of our municipal officials.

The announcement of a dance under the auspices of the Rebekahs at once interests the dancers for miles around, and the date set for this anticipated event is Friday, November 7th. Besides the excellent features which make this dance so popular, this time the music will be furnished by Tom Shaw and his Calgary orchestra of four pieces.

Vulcan Odd Fellows, and members of the order at Barons, Carmangay and Lomond, are anticipating with considerable interest the annual meeting of the District Lodge, to be held this year in Carmangay, on November 4th. It is an interesting and important event in lodge circles, and indications are that Vulcan will be represented by a large delegation. Mr. Howard Marcellus of Vulcan, is an official of the district lodge.

Messrs. Elves Bros. have just executed a lease of a section of land, six miles east and one mile north of Vulcan, to Mr. W. W. Clarkson, and in the deal a contract has been made for the construction on the property of a house, barn and other buildings. These will be of ample size and substantial structure, and will add much to the value of this desirable property. Mr. Clarkson comes with a complete equipment and a good reputation as a farmer.

Word came to Vulcan on Monday of the death at Calgary of Mrs. Turner, wife of Mr. Lloyd Turner, manager of the Calgary hockey team and prominent member of the Elks. Mrs. Turner is best known here by the lady curlers, she being one of the best in Calgary and was in the finals against the local ladies last winter, and will be remembered on account of her ability, geniality and generous sportsmanship. Mrs. Turner was an active member of the Order of Royal Purple.

Residents right here are rejoicing in the fact that on Wednesday it rained a little and snowed a lot, creating a condition that will perhaps make bad roads for a time, but, as some have said, it is a fine start on a good crop next year. And this will be the good news that The Advocate will convey this week to our readers at a distance who have land possessions in the Vulcan district. It was easily a million dollar storm, and right at the time when Hon. Mackenzie King and Hon. Arthur Meighen are in our midst.

Interest in the subject of the establishment of a municipal hospital in the Vulcan district, which has of late been more or less discussed in the district, will perhaps be increased by a message recently received from Mr. Arthur K. Whiston, superintendent of organization, hospital branch, provincial department of health, in which he intimates his willingness and readiness to come at almost any time desired to Vulcan and give of his intimate knowledge to an assembly of the people who might be sufficiently interested to learn the details of such a proposition. We understand that members of the Women's Institute in the district are interesting themselves in the promotion of such a meeting, and what they undertake never fails.

His Excellency Lord Byng, governor-general of Canada, has generously donated 27 bronze medals for competition in connection with the recent 1924 public school leaving examinations in Alberta. A medal is awarded to the candidate taking the highest aggregate in each inspectorate as the boundaries existed at the opening of the fall term. In the High River inspectorate the medal was won by Miss Pearl Zang, of Vulcan, which school also produced the winner of the medal last year, a distinction unusual for a rural school, and one that will be appreciated by all interested. Besides bringing honor and credit to herself and school Miss Zang ranks even with three in being the youngest in the entire province to win a medal. Pearl has made us all proud of her, for she it was who won the gold medal for public speaking at the Vulcan and district school fair, and every pupil in our school fair area, and every body else, will gladly give credit to one of their number who has brought honor and distinction to the community. All will be glad also that Pearl was given prominence in the moving pictures taken at the fair, for they were taking photos then of a medal winner greater than they knew.

CROWS NEST AGREEMENT

The abrogation of the Crows Nest agreement by the railway commission in practically annulling an act of parliament, is stirring up considerable comment in the publications of the west where it is felt by the people that undue discriminations have been thereby effected which will materially and detrimentally reflect on our progress and well being. The action of the commission places the rates on the basis of operation of July 6th last and suffers the then high existing rates to again become effective to the advantage of the railroads and to the surerance of the general people. The Crows Nest agreement, as originally drawn up, evidently provided for rates effective in the existing lines and made no provisions for any new lines or branches which would thereafter be constructed, with the result that different rates are in force in different lines of the same system, which have caused, and rightfully so, a cry of discrimination as to freight rates. The original bill should have provided for such natural extensions of the railroads and it is hard for a sane person to believe that such exigencies were not considered in the drawing of this original agreement. Politics may again have played a part in the drawing of this bill and another joker passed on to the unsuspecting public of the west, and politics may again be resorted to in the late action of the railway commission in overriding an act of parliament to the detriment of the people of the western provinces. An appeal from the commission's action is now being made and Premier McKenzie King has been requested to interpose but is advised by his council that the action of the commission will have to stand and the present rates will be effective until the appeal is passed upon. The west will therefore have to suffer the penalties of the commission's action for some time pending consideration and decision on the appeal and in the meantime the railroad companies, business like, have put the higher rates into almost immediate effect. The general feeling among the people is discrimination and injustice to the west at a time when prospects of regaining the losses of the past few years were apparent. This was seemingly occasioned by the unprofessional drawing of a contract which ignored the future expansions and extensions of the railroads in their natural business activities and life.

Forest rangers in the state of Washington have discovered that by using the branches of trees instead of the customary wire antenna they can send radio over a distance of two or three miles. All they have to do is to drive a copper nail into the trunk of a tree, connect the sending instrument with it and begin to send. Experiments are now in progress to increase the efficiency of the contrivance, which should prove of great service in enabling rangers to keep in touch with their stations and with one another.

There are many tests of human capacity, from Mr. Edison's questionaire to the Harvard entrance examinations, but few are so simple as the test that a hard-headed, self-made "down East" business man applies to boys who ask him for work. To all of them he puts one question: "Got a jackknife?" If the boy says "Yes," there may be further inquiries; if he says "No," the interview ends. "Don't want ye. Boy that ain't got gumption enough to own a knife wouldn't be any use to me." This is where the member of the Tuxis or Trail Ranger organization has it over the average boy.

GIRLS, BOYS AND LIFE

Several outstanding Canadian leaders were in High River last week conducting a conference among teen age boys, young men and their leaders which reminds us that people have always agreed that the greatest business of any generation is preparing its girls and boys for life. Before this all other obligations must give way no matter how important. It is here that civilization succeeds or fails. What is the equipment the boy or girl will need to meet the problems, tests and opportunities? Is it not an equipment that can be set at work in daily living now and in the years that lie ahead? Is it not in having sound views of the purpose of life; in being loyal to these ideals, which in turn lead to earnest action in the right direction. These leaders told us how best we can discharge our obligations to the youth of town and country. They say we must turn to the bible for instruction, inspiration and guidance our boys and girls should have. Great men and women of all generations impress on us the fact that not to know its teachings is to miss the strongest and best, yes, the only foundation that has ever been laid for useful and happy living. Not to have a knowledge of the bible is to deprive ourselves of the help necessary to bring us to our rightful destiny. During the conference it was demonstrated how best to adapt these principles so that they could be incorporated in the average boy's and girl's life. The training and inspiration could have no other result than a complete all-round life. The Lethbridge Herald in referring to this interesting subject asks: What would be the result if we all really got behind that great institution, the church and the Sunday school and were to spend an hour on Sunday and one or two evenings a week as adults and young people, giving and getting what we admit is the important part of our education?

THAT "BUYING JAG"

Some of the down east newspapers are taking comfort in expectancy of the big "buying jag" that they predict will be apparent in the western provinces this fall owing to the large prospective returns from the crops. We have before read in these journals of the entire dependence of the west on the east, but this admission seems to now belie itself and expose the real interest which the east holds in the successful productions of the west. They are anticipating a big revival of business through the flow of trade to the manufacturers and jobbers of the east and predict that the same will be recklessly undertaken when the returns from crops are received. We hope that they will not be altogether disappointed and feel that undoubtedly some such purchasing will be undertaken in certain districts but know that generally speaking the farmers of the west have before experienced the unfortunate happenings of going on a "buying jag" and will not this year undertake the possible future hardships of such an excursion and will be careful in their expenditures the coming winter. We can feel this way with assurance regarding the rural population of this district who look before they leap and have before experienced the wisdom of playing the game safe and living within their means. There are other seasons coming which may not be so prolific as the past one and provisions for such must be considered by the level-headed ones and their actions governed accordingly. We are pleased to see the east successful but not altogether at the suffering expense of the west.

What Royal personage does the Prince of Wales resemble? An eminent portrait painter declares that, judging from the portraits of Royalty dating back to the Middle Ages, the prince is a second Henry V.

Six million bushels of grain on track for Vancouver and more than 6,000,000 bushels shown in an incomplete list of ships for October is the present status of the grain industry. In October, 1923, the grain movement totalled 2,358,008 bushels. About thirty ships are in this port to load full or part cargoes of Western Canadian wheat, the vanguard being a motorship loading 1,500 tons for Scandinavian ports.

THE WEED MENACE

The statutes of the province, as also the by-laws of most municipalities, have regulations governing noxious weeds; and they likewise have powers for the infliction of fines and other penalties on those who fail in their duty of seeing to it that they do not allow noxious weeds to flourish and go to seed on their properties. Neighbors of those who allow weeds to mature have a just grievance and may quite properly complain of neglect in controlling them, remarks the editor of the Vernon News. But in the case of the government itself, or often of the municipalities as well, the law seems to be a dead letter. The laws which are made for the governing of the people do not seem to apply to those who govern. Good farmers, of whom there are many, are very careful as to the care of their lands, and make every effort to exterminate and keep under control the weeds on their properties. But there is scant satisfaction in doing this if the authorities who have charge of the highways so neglect these that weeds of the very worst kind are annually allowed to produce and scatter a big crop of seeds with little or no attempt at control of them. Complaints have recently been made that such neglect has occurred in various parts of the district; and while it is too late this season to remedy the matter it would be well for those in charge to make a note of this and see to it that next year the weeds on the highways be cut down before they go to seed, for while this may not have the effect of exterminating them, it will tend to prevent their doing damage to the extent of distributing an increasing crop of seeds, and this will at any rate help some. Every weed allowed to grow robs the soil of just that much moisture and plant food which should go to crops of various kinds; and thus, where moisture is so necessary and valuable as is the case in this district, no weeds which can be controlled should be allowed to flourish, much less go to seed.

THE WEST IS RIGHT

The west will fight and the west will be right, is the conclusion reached by the Toronto Star in considering the action of the Board of Railway Commissioners in dealing with the Crows Nest agreement. We are inclined to believe that this is the fight of the west against the east, but it is not so. It is a fight of right against wrong and the west has many supporters in the east. The Toronto Star quotes that part of the finding of the board in which Chief Commissioner McKeown concludes: "I cannot view the agreement in the light of forever disabling the parties thereto from reconsidering their situation and from making the necessary adjustment that business conditions now so insistently demand." The Star then makes this reasonable observation: "There is nothing in this agreement or in any other human agreement preventing the parties thereto reconsidering their situation and making a new contract. The parties to this agreement were the C.P.R. and the parliament of Canada. They could have got together, reconsidered the obligations existing between them under contract, and effected adjustments. But this was not done. What has now happened is this. A lawful agreement existed, and one of the parties thereto, without the consent of the other, has asked the railway board to set it aside, and the board has done it, using a great deal of persuasive reasoning in the process. The west will undoubtedly go to the floor of parliament with a protest against the action of the railway board. The west will fight and the west will be right."

SUPPORT RED CROSS

Of all the worthy causes which deserve public attention and support, the Red Cross probably stands supreme. It is an organization which has as its chief reason for existence the alleviation of human suffering. What motive could be more noble? The human race is subject to many ills, and the suffering of mankind, during peace as well as in war times is very great. This suffering, however, would be increased many times were it not for the splendid work of the Red Cross throughout the world. The Alberta organization is said to be the most efficient auxiliary in the Dominion of Canada, and it may well be considered an honor to be a supporter of such an organization.

Armistice and Thanksgiving day, Monday, November 10th.

Wearing the poppy on Armistice Day is not intended to glorify war, but rather to commemorate the end of the "last" war, and to keep in mind the sacrifices which this country made in a cause which it was thought would forever prevent any repetition of the gigantic slaughter which the figures disclose.

Local "Blue Noses" will be interested in learning that with an estimated crop of 1,500,000 barrels of apples to be harvested in the Annapolis Valley this year, with 115 warehouses operating to full capacity, with good prices, and fruit of exceptionally fine quality, the outlook in the valley district is generally declared by men of authority to be most optimistic.

RED CROSS DAY

People of Alberta:—Peace gives to us problems to solve and duties to perform equally as important as those of war. Health, education, nursing service to the pioneers, relief to those less fortunate than ourselves, are duties which must be undertaken by all who enjoy and are proud of their citizenship. To do these successfully and efficiently there must be a perfect organization. I firmly believe that Red Cross, both from its world wide experience, and its efficient organization which covers the entire province, is the institution best fitted to undertake the administration of this important work. Rural nursing stations, as operated by the Red Cross in Alberta, are filling a genuine need to the women and children of the pioneers in remote districts. It is easy to imagine the sorry plight these people would be in without the Red Cross nursing station. In districts remote from doctors or hospitals our nursing stations are often the means of saving untold suffering, and in many cases death. We have many demands for hospitals and nursing service, but we unfortunately, owing to lack of funds are unable to fill all the requests made. Without funds the Red Cross is placed in a position not unlike that of a soldier in battle without arms and ammunition, we are helpless. October 31st is "Red Cross Day" and it is the day upon which our collection boxes are to be returned. You can help. See that all our boxes are placed in the hands of friends and on Red Cross Day see that they are returned. Can we, for very humanity's sake, have the Red Cross work hampered and curtailed by lack of funds? With deep interest and concern I shall watch for an answer from the people of Alberta. What indeed, will be the answer from your community? I appeal to you to do your best for Red Cross day. Sincerely yours, R. G. BRETT, Lieut. Gov.

FOUND GUILTY

Peter Smith, former treasurer of the province of Ontario in the Drury government and Aemilius Jarvis, Sr. head of a well known Toronto bond and brokerage house were found guilty of conspiracy to defraud the government. Smith was sentenced to 3 years imprisonment in Portsmouth penitentiary and Jarvis was sentenced to serve six months in the county jail. In addition both men must remain in jail until a fine of $600,000 is paid. Aemilius Jarvis, Jr., son of the convicted broker and Harry C. Peppal, vice-president and manager respectively of the firm were both found not guilty of conspiracy to defraud the province. An appeal will be entered on behalf of the two men. Chief Justice R. M. Meredith presided and after the verdict of guilty was brought in by the jury, the sentence was imposed. Peter Smith denied his guilt and broke down before he got through with his statement.

Aemilius Jarvis, Sr., in a tone of indignation said: "I never knew Peter Smith, and never had any connection with him, directly or indirectly. I never gave him one dollar or sanctioned one dollar being given to him. Nor had I any conspiracy with Andrew Peppal to distort or mislead the cabinet of Ontario. I never discussed this thing with Peter Smith—only with Mr. Drury to begin with and with him in the cabinet." Chief Justice Meredith: "May I ask why you took the half-million dollars or more for the petty services you performed?" "I do not call them petty services. When a man stakes his whole fortune signing a hypothecation in London, which you do not put any credence in. When you have become liable for eight million dollars and stake your life's fortune. As Sir John Ferguson said, I was the first person to repay if the province failed to take up this note within 30 days. I was the borrower. As the bonds came in, they were paid for at Lloyds, and I had to borrow the money. You say that is a petty thing?" "You know Aemilius Jarvis; that you did not run the risk of one dollar." "I ran the risk of everything."

Turning to Peter Smith, Judge Meredith asked him if he cared to tell how he got the $100,000 odd from Aemilius Jarvis. "I did not get that money." "Nobody said you did. I was asking you about the securities. Where did you get the coupons?" "I got them from Andrew Peppal," answered Mr. Smith. "He owed me some money and he asked me to get them cashed. They were not due at the time he gave them. He was going away."

In passing judgment Mr. Justice Meredith said: "Peter Smith it is neither my duty nor my right to recount your misdeeds, or to say one word that will add to your punishment. But in order that you may not think there is any disproportion between the penalty passed upon you and passed upon your co-conspirator, I may say that you were chosen by the people of the constituency in which you lived to serve them and to serve this province faithfully. Aemilius Jarvis was not so chosen. You were made a minister of the crown, and were what is commonly called a watchdog of the treasury. Aemilius Jarvis was not. You made an oath which you violated; a solemn oath of office. Aemilius Jarvis did not."

"The judgment of the court upon you, Peter Smith, is that you be imprisoned in the penitentiary for three years." Addressing Mr. Jarvis, the chief justice said: "The judgment of the court upon you, Aemilius Jarvis, is that you be imprisoned in the county jail of this county for six months." Then addressing both prisoners: "And furthermore, the judgment of the court upon you, Peter Smith, and upon you, Aemilius Jarvis, is that you and each of you pay a fine of $600,000, and that you remain in jail until it is paid."

CARELESS HUNTERS

If hunters would observe the ordinary amenities of civilized life there would be very few shooting notices posted and no bad blood between farmers and sportsmen. Every man who carries a gun knows pretty well where he is going before he starts out; would it not be courteous to phone the owner of the land over which he intends to shoot asking his permission? If he did so there would not be many farmers who would refuse. The careless hunter and the man who goes out with wire-cutters spoils sport for everyone.

HAVE YOU PAID YOUR SUB?

Regarding your subscription to this paper, we have been lenient in many instances as regards the payment of arrears in these owing to the poor crop conditions of late years feeling assured that these small obligations would be promptly wiped out when good times were again in evidence. We feel now that the time has come when our considerations will be appreciated in the substantial remittances for all arrears which we assure you will be gratefully appreciated at this time. The amounts are comparatively small but in the aggregate sum up a total which we can use to advantage. Please.

AEROPLANE TRIP

High River Citizen Describes his Impressions of a Trip Made with Air (Patrol to Eckville and Back)

Do you remember your first ride in the country when you were four or five summers old? Your mother wrapped you up very carefully and on the way to Aunt Betsy's and back you showed a lively interest in all you saw and heard, twisting this way and that, excitedly shouting comments at sight of every strange object. Well that about describes one's behaviour on the occasion of his first airplane ride. But the officers are patient and do not seem to mind. They are kind hearted gentlemen. The airman's suit is a marvel of warmth and comfort, although at first sight seems to be fearfully and wonderfully made. The captain indicates at which end you are to dive into your leather and sheepskins, and then kindly tucks you in at the corners and ties up the loose ends. You step gingerly into the fearful looking machine waiting for you at the door, and mind you do not lean on the glass wind-shield—if that is the name, for it.

There are a few men standing about and they give us a cheery send off while the pilot is tuning up the motor—and now we are off. At that moment impressions begin to come thick and fast when the earth sinks beneath you and you feel that you are really out of your element. The first order is to let out the aerial. That done one is free for a time to look things over, and find that he is quite "up in the air." What are those rows of white blocks and neat little cubes of brick? Oh, they are houses of course—the homes of High River. And that dark line is the railway. That black little object creeping along with smoke coming out of its head. Of course that must be the train. Yes, and there is the school and hospital and Charley Clark's place, everything. What a pity we haven't something to drop. There is a signal out at the air-drome. It says that our messages are coming through O.K. The pilot asks if we have any message we care to send. "Yes. Tell the wireless operator at the drome to step up here a moment please. I am not sure that I quite understand his instructions." At least that is the message I should have most cared to send just then. Now we are well away. How funny the fields look. Little squares and the narrow oblong belts of black and gold. Even the Highwood over there on the right looks miserably small. Clouds, just ahead of us and the pilot asks if we are tightly strapped in when suddenly she bumps. Oh my, that took my breath away. Quite an unusual air current here this morning. Our machine descends thousands of feet and then ascends even more rapidly 6000 feet in two or three minutes. Below us on the left are clouds—a huge pillow of fluffy white. How lovely! But we cannot tarry.

We are entering the foothills. There's the Bar U and E P on the left and the Ings ranch to the right. Now the terrain seems to be a series of roof shaped ridges running north and south in parallel lines and all as bare and black and uninviting. Can it be that forest fires have done this? If so I am for the forest patrol. Now we are moving north. The Rockies are very white and more fascinating than ever. Calgary over in the distance looks strangely insignificant this morning. And this is Cochrane. The Banff trail is quite clearly defined.

We have been moving lately at a great elevation—over 12,000 feet, and thru a sixty mile an hour wind so that our progress is slow. For the last hour or so the earth has been covered with a beautiful green—trees presumably, but of what height or size I cannot make out. Now we come down into a pretty wooded valley where the sun is agreeably warm and there is no wind. The pilot circles about here for a time, carefully regarding a certain spot on the ground and I am on the point of asking him if he has lost something, when there is a sudden movement at my side, a turn of the spool, a snap and our aerial is gone. That means no more messages to Mother Earth. We may drop into this forest wilderness and be devoured by wolves or be blown Heaven knows where, perhaps to Mars, (or the North Pole), and no one will ever learn our fate. Now the pilot has finished reading his signals. Then let us away, up into the friendly ether again. Too much contact with earth has been unhealthy for us. Again we are moving north. The pilot has been visiting the Red Deer Ranger Station, and has been notified in some mysterious way that the elements are violently disturbed at High River and we are to remain in the more agreeable atmosphere of the north until the winds subside at home. We are passing over a country of farms and they look attractively neat and comfortable from the air, the whole country resembling a huge checker board blocked off in an endless number of small squares. In the distance some small fires are seen and we circle about until the pilot assures himself that there is no danger. Continuing north there is a railway and a town. The pilot banks his machine at an alarming angle and swoops gracefully down to a perfect landing. This is Eckville situated on the C.N.R. between Red Deer and Rocky Mountain House and one of the bases of the High River air station. The remaining hours of daylight are spent in putting our machine in condition to resume the journey on the morrow. Another two hours of work in the morning involving a non the aerial, and we are off again. This experiment in aerials should bring us some recognition from the government—or Major Cuffe. The take-off and the landing, by the way, are the most exciting parts of a flight in the air. While the machine is in ordinary flight one does not have the feeling of rushing through the air such as is produced in a motor car. On the contrary one has the impression of being stationary. There is always a breeze of course from the forward motion of the plane and also from the propellers, but in relation to objects on the ground there seems to be scarcely any forward movement. We are making seventy five miles an hour however, and soon we are passing over Calgary—a most interesting picture from an elevation of 3000 feet, but looking more like a village than a proud city. How gratifying a spectacle for an Edmontonian. What is that large dark spot on the ground with outlines so clearly defined? And the pilot with unfeigned patience explains that it is the shadow cast by a cloud. The mountains on our right are grander than I have ever seen them. But that is a peculiarity of the mountains, is it not, to be ever changing in hue and brilliancy. In fact one of their greatest charms.

I know not which is the most attractive up here—the mountains, clouds, rivers, towns or farms. There are so many little streams trickling down from the mountains. I cannot make acquaintance with them all but on this trip I have had the pleasurable satisfaction of viewing the upper waters of the North Saskatchewan, Red Deer, James, Bow and Elbow rivers as well as the Sheep and Highwood and their junction with the Bow. So much value is there in obtaining a panoramic view of a large area at one glance. Okotoks, Aldersyde and High River come into view so quickly there was hardly time to record ones impressions but one could not fail to notice the attractive appearance of the farms, and the general evidences of prosperity. In no more time than it takes to tell it, as it seemed, we were nearing the landing place, and in a trice had glided safely home.

Of such a trip impressions can be described only up to a certain point. They must be experienced to be understood. I have been wondering if we realize just what the air service means to this town and Southern Alberta in general. Many of us do not and we are likely to continue in this attitude of cold indifference until some day we are enabled to ride in the air. Then we will begin to learn the qualities that go to make a successful airman, and we will gain a slight inkling of the service these men are rendering to Canada.

PRIZES

To introduce our best grade of portraits to the people of Vulcan and district we are making the following special offer for Christmas Business.

Rules of Contest

First Prize $25.00
Second Prize $15.00
Third Prize $10.00

Given to the contestant making the greatest number of words out of the letters in the words, "Special Christmas Offer". No proper names, nicknames or abbreviations will count. Contestant must purchase ticket on or before November 15th, and have portrait taken before January 1, 1925. Answers must be written plainly, on one side of paper only and delivered by hand or mail on or before November 15th. If you can't come in, mail your list of words with $2.00 and we will mail your ticket by return. You can then hold your ticket until convenient to have your portrait taken. All lists received will be numbered as soon as we get them, then in case two or more contestants have the same number of words, the first list received will be the winner. Only one prize will be given to any one contestant, but he or she may obtain as many dozen Portraits at the reduced price for as many tickets purchased. Winners will be announced in the first edition of the local paper after January 1, 1925. At least 150 tickets must be sold to make this contest effective.

One Dozen of our Regular
$25.00 Per Dozen Portraits for

$16.00 PER DOZEN

Payable as follows:

$2.00 for Ticket, which entitles you to the reduction; $7.00 at time of sitting, and balance when portraits are finished.

We guarantee all our work, Re Sitting if not satisfactory, free of charge. Tickets good for single portraits or family groups. All tickets must be purchased on or before November 15th, but can be used anytime until January 1, 1925.

How We Can Do This

By buying our materials in large lots and specializing in one kind of portrait, we can afford to give you the same class of work at greatly reduced prices. This year we are giving you our Best Portrait in a beautiful 7x9 1/2 mount, which you cannot purchase anywhere else, for less than $25.00, and in the best Studios in the least for $35.00 to $60.00 per doz., for the remarkably low price of $16.00 per dozen. By selling a large number of orders, we can still make a profit on the big turnover. To ensure a large enough turnover to pay us we are having printed 250 tickets, which will be sold one to each purchaser of one dozen portraits, the purchase price of which will apply on their order. As we wish to know how much material we will need in advance, we are giving $50.00 in prizes to ticket holders as an inducement to get their tickets before November 15th. They can then use their tickets any time up till January 1st, 1925.

REMEMBER—Only 250 Tickets will be sold. Get yours now and win a prize.

WHO IS ARMING THE CHINESE?

Five powers have dispatched warships and men to the neighborhood of China's civil war to protect nationals and their property in the Shanghai area. A sizeable part of the world's government is moving swiftly to defend its interests, endangered by a conflict which may easily induce a situation as serious as the Boxer uprising, says the Nelson News. Splendid. But this civil war is waged with rifles and field pieces and airplanes and ammunition, and if anyone can show how this material is being produced in China the disclosure will surprise a great many persons familiar with the east. It is stated, and not disproved that the machinery with which the conflict is being carried on has been supplied the warring forces by citizens of the same western nations now rallying suddenly and energetically to the defence of their nationals. Two years ago at Washington, several enlightened Christian powers pledged themselves to permit no more exportation of arms to China. The pact was entered into for the purpose of preventing the precise thing now taking place. If these powers were honest when the pledge was made and are honest now, they will want to know the source of China's new rifles and her planes and modern cannon. It is an indisputable truth, which strikes every student of the causes of war, that one of the most malign and pernicious accessories before the fact in any modern conflict at arms is the man with murder machines to sell. His fat years are those in which blood is being spilled. What is poison for humanity is his meat. The governments beneath whose protection he operates can control him.

LET VANCOUVER BUILD IT

Vancouver is portraying a pleasant picture of the enormous wealth to be made by building a railway to the coast from the Peace River district, says the Bassano Mail. If such a road would be so immensely profitable why doesn't some Vancouver or British Columbia capitalist build it? Having had millions of dollars expended in elevators and wharfs by the government of Canada, Vancouver has developed a somewhat rapacious appetite for government funds. She wants the Canadian government to build a railway from Peace River to Vancouver. You'll notice the Canadian Pacific Railway is not asked to build the road. There is a good reason. The C.P.R. is a shrewd business organization, and would not touch the Peace River proposition with a ten foot pole. But the heavily burdened government road, with its extreme sensitiveness to the popular vote, may be induced to go ahead with the proposition.

The first carload of Alberta tar sands to be shipped out of Alberta for experimental purposes, will leave Edmonton on Monday next for Petrolia, Ontario. The shipment is being made by the Draper interests, who are operating tar sand claims at Waterways, north-east of Edmonton on the Clearwater River. The carload of material will be sent to Petrolia, where the municipal authorities will use the material for the repairing of street paving. Part of the material will also be used for experimental purposes at the Draper plant at Petrolia.

WEATHER AND CROPS

The weather continued very favorable for threshing operations up to Tuesday night last, when in early morning a steady rain set in and lasted until Wednesday afternoon, about 1:30 o'clock, giving about eight hours of rainfall which put a stop to all operations. This was followed by clearing weather and on Thursday morning the sun was again showing brightly. In this connection we are advised to state that further threshing operations should be delayed for a week or ten days to insure good grading of the grains. Some complaints were heard after the last storm as regards the lowering of grading due to the moisture which gave it a "tough" rating and for which a spread of 10 cents is deducted. This amount is equal to the threshing costs and can be saved if the grain is allowed to dry before again resuming threshing operations. The graders allow 14½% of moisture content but anything above that percentage is graded "tough" and unfit for storage and a deduction of 10 cents is made. This occasions a serious loss and should be well considered before operations are again resumed. About 90% of the threshing is completed in this locality and only a few days more are required to clean up. The prices continue a little off owing, no doubt, to the heavy deliveries and glutting of the market. On one day last week the record for loading in Alberta was established when 1400 cars were loaded and with the terminals overburdened with receipts, it is suggested that this is the cause of the lower prices. There is no serious shortage in "empties" and deliveries from here are being daily made, but at times there is a lack of cars. The elevators here are still in a position to receive grain and care for all deliveries. The local prices quoted are as follows:—wheat $1.31, oats 44c, barley 65c and rye 96c.

FRANCE FRIEND OF CANADA

The Paris correspondent of the Financial Post refers to the gratifying increase in our exports to France. He says Canada is fairly popular among the French the most popular of any foreign nation. He says the English are disliked, the Germans are coming into favor and the Americans just tolerated. France, he says is a prosperous country, though nominally the government is poor. They are endeavoring as far as possible to be self supporting, but anything they need to import their preference they go to Canada. This friendly attitude toward Canada is due to the splendid work of Hon. Mr. Roy, the high commissioner in France, who is personally one of the best known and most popular men in Paris. The attention paid to him on state and official occasions is evidence of this, and the Canadian editors who visited Paris recently, realize his tact and great ability in the position he occupies.

An avalanche that swept across a road near Rochetallée, France, not long ago dropped a huge block of ice that contained the carcass of a wild bear. Just how the bear became imbedded in the ice is not clear, but probably it was caught in the slide, and the mass of snow, closing round it, solidified and thus converted it into cold storage pork.

WELL-BRED CATTLE

J. M. Dillon says the feeder and stock show held at Calgary last week was the best and biggest show of its kind ever seen. There was a great showing of well bred cattle and a goodly number of buyers. Prices on the whole were good and the government officials at Ottawa helped to make the event a success.

"The judges should come in for a good share of credit, as they had a very hard task to perform. There were so many cattle of good quality to choose between that it was difficult for any one man to decide which was best in his class and it was possible to obtain from the spectators many different opinions upon this matter. Special attention should be called to the yearling class, the quality of which averaged, in my opinion, a little higher than the other class. F. V. Bennis of the Round T ranch, High River, had a very creditable showing taking away seven ribbons with one hundred and twelve steers. Mr. Bennis has been buying the very best of bulls at the Spring Bull Sales and the above results must be a source of great satisfaction to him. He took first, second and third in the yearling Shorthorn class for carloads and second in the mixed carload class besides three group prizes.

"Another great entry in the yearling class was that of Douglas Hardwick, of Gleichen, who entered three loads, and took away first prize in the yearling Hereford carload class, first prize in the mixed carload class for yearlings, and third prize in the same class, besides winning the special prize donated by the Hereford Breeders' Association, also the silver cup donated by A.E. Cross for the best carload of Hereford steers at the show.

"The old ranchers of this country have been breeding with a certain type in mind for a good many years back and it is interesting to see the result of their efforts come together in competition at this show, and there is no question in the minds of most of those here at that time that the very best feeder cattle in the world can be found on the ranges of Western Canada in greater numbers than anywhere else. The only complaint I have heard was the tendency of some of the exhibitors to show a few three-year-old steers with their two-year-old exhibits. This, I am sure, was not done intentionally and I understand the management has taken steps to eliminate this feature, as in future everything will pass through the hands of a selective committee before the show. The entire show has given great satisfaction and our only concern is that we must not grow too fast; but if the Ontario feeder will bear in mind the fact that, while we put through the sale ring something like 1,800 steers this year, that it is quite possible for us to double that number next year, if they will assure us of their support in disposing of them. We all feel very grateful to the live stock department at Ottawa for their action in refunding the railroad fares to these eastern buyers, as they have made it possible for us to make direct connections in a good many cases with the men who want our type of steer for finishing in Eastern Canada."

The marriage took place at the manse High River, on Monday, October 27, 1924, by the Rev. Wm. McNichol, M.A., of Mr. Ernest McD. Taylor of Cayley district to Miss Esnie Jean McCormack of London, England. Miss McCormack only recently arrived from London, England. The Times offers congratulations to the happy couple.

BIG SHIPMENTS

Over twelve million bushels of grain has been marketed on the Lethbridge division of the Canadian Pacific Railway. A total of 8,842,000 bushels of wheat and 428,000 bushels of other grains, had been marketed on the division up to Wednesday, while storage stocks in line elevators aggregated 2,770,000 bushels of wheat and 150,000 bushels of other grains. During the past week 7516 cars were handled, 113 cars being billed direct to Vancouver. Much of the grain not billed direct to the western terminals eventually finds its way there so that the 113 cars do not by any means represent the volume of westward-moving grain. Shipments last week reached 2,100,000 bushels of other grain. There was added to the grain already in store 900,000 bushels last week.

Shipments up to Wednesday, according to figures obtained at the general C.P.R. offices, show that 6105 cars of grain, thus far this season have been handled on this division. Of this number 680 cars show direct billing to Vancouver. Wheat shipments total 8,842,000 bushels and other grains 428,000 bushels. There is now in store 2,770,000 bushels of wheat and 150,000 bushels of other grains.

Leading country points in point of shipping are listed below. A feature of the race during the past week was the remarkable spurt made by Cardston. Threshing is still on full blast there as heavy receipts prove. Macleod sub-division points stoutly maintain their lead although Vulcan is forging dangerously upward.

MARKET REPORTS

The beef cattle department did not receive heavy shipments at Calgary this week but prices all held firm at last week's levels. Choice heavy steers $4.50@4.85; choice light $4.25@4.50; good $3.75@4.25; medium $3.25@3.75; common $2.50@3. Choice fat heifers $3.50@3.75; good $3@3.25. Choice cows $2.75@3; good $2.25@2.65; medium $2@2.25; common $1.25@1.75; canners $1 down. Bulls, choice, $2; plain to common $1@1.50. Calves, choice veal $3.85@4.25; common $2.25@3.75. Feeders, stockers—Market good.

Hog markets weakening and Calgary sales mostly on basis of $9, on thick smooths, with bacon 10 per cent premium. Today's sales down to $8.90. Calgary sheep market holding steady and choice lambs still around $11.50, with plain ones down to $10.50; yearlings at $9@10.50; fat ewes $4@7. Still good demand for breeding ewes.

Grain markets have been jumpy during the week, as might be expected when prices are high. Threshing operations have been carried on during the week in Alberta under generally favorable conditions. There is a lot of grain which is losing grade because of various conditions which militated against it during growth and maturity and resulted in poorly developed grain. Price tendency naturally uncertain but at present the market looks encouraging for the crop.

Creamery butter—Alberta prices are uncertain; production decreasing rapidly, especially in southern portion of province, north holding up better. Eastern market weaker, but local and coast demand will take care of most of Alberta make for the season now. Butterfat—Alberta prices unchanged and Saskatchewan hold the same; Manitoba reported likely to get in line. Dairy Butter—Supplies very light and hardly any arriving at central points. Cheese—Prices holding recent advance and trade outlook much better.

Eggs—All Alberta prices advanced this week about 3c, making prices now, Extras 38c; No. 1 33c; No. 2 23@25c; Cracks 18@19c; receipts very light. Poultry—Market very slow and lower all around. Fowl 8@12c; chicken 12@14c; old roosters 6c. Ducks 10c; No extra demand likely to develop for Thanksgiving and turkeys and geese not wanted now; all birds should be held and finished for the big holiday trade at Christmas.

Potato growers getting bullish since recent government reports were published and some lots have been bought in Calgary district up to $23, but most of the A grade is at $20. Other grades $16@18; not much carlot business yet. Hay movement not started yet in any volume and prices irregular.

Tanners are not buying hides in quantities and future will be governed by action of the leather demand, which is poor at present.

RED CROSS TAG DAY

Friday, October 31 and Saturday, November 1 is Red Cross Tag Day and the work here will be carried on by the Red Cross Society and young ladies who have agreed to assist in this excellent work. The public is sincerely urged to lend support to this most worthy cause. The Red Cross knows no class, race or creed. Its services extend to the four corners of the earth and all humanity benefits. By all means make your conscience feel comfortable by purchasing a Red Cross tag on the above dates.

GLARING HEADLIGHTS

Glaring headlights on automobiles at night ought certainly to have their glare reduced or dimmed when cars meet on country roads. Some drivers make use of dimmers, others do not, and those who fail to do so neglect what if not a law of the land is at least an act of decency and something in harmony with the principles of safety first. Glaring headlights are blinding to those in front of them and are no doubt the cause of many an accident.—Ex.

ONTARIO VOTES DRY

The recent vote on the Ontario Temperance Act shows that the majority for prohibition will be over 40,000 and so the old act will remain in force. Premier Ferguson announces that the government will accept the verdict of the majority and enforce the act to the best of its ability. With regard to extending concessions to cities and towns that voted wet, the premier says it cannot be done, as the result of the vote is apparent and a local option bill for wet centres would not be considered. It will be interesting to watch developments in Ontario from now on.

LETTER FROM LONDON

The agent-general for South Australia has been exploring London for the last two years in search of relics of Queen Adelaide, wife of William IV, who gave her name to the capital of his state. It might have been thought that a queen of England of only a hundred years ago would have left many portraits and belongings; but even the National Gallery had no portrait of the queen wearing her crown, nor could one be produced by Buckingham Palace, Windsor and the Tower of London put together. Finally an old and battered oil painting of the poor lady in her coronation robes turned up in a small shop off Covent Garden. Queen Mary, who took great interest in the quest, is presenting Adelaide, South Australia, with a pair of silver candlesticks which belonged to the city's godmother. Less distinguished folk have presented Queen Adelaide's prayerbook and a piece of brocade silk from her wedding gown.

SWINE BREEDERS' CONTEST

Four hundred dollars will be distributed in prize money among the best of the 65 pairs of pigs entered for the Swine Breeders' competition and short course to be held at the University of Alberta on November 6 and 7, according to the programme for that event which has just been issued. The objects of the competition and short course are to stimulate a greater interest in the production of bacon hogs, to gain a more definite knowledge of the desired type in both market hogs and breeding stock, to discuss the various problems which arise in connection with the breeding, feeding and general management of hogs of the approved type, and to review the whole situation as it now exists in the light of present day market requirements. The event is being staged under the auspices of the Canadian Swine Breeders' Association, the Alberta Provincial Swine Breeders' Association, the Dominion Livestock Branch, the Provincial Department of Agriculture, and the Department of Animal Husbandry of the University of Alberta.

According to report at Toronto the Dodge Bros. Motor Company of Detroit proposes locating large assembling plant in Toronto.

BOYS' CONFERENCE

The High River Boys' Work conference on October 23 and 24 was an unusually interesting affair with eighty three delegates present from as far north as Calgary, south to Claresholm and east to Vulcan. The conference was planned in connection with the promotion of the Canadian Standard Efficiency Tests program for boys. This program is carried out through Trail Ranger and Tuxis groups, which are organized Sunday school classes carrying on their four-fold program in Sunday and week-end sessions. The C.S.E.T. program is sponsored by the Religious Education Council of Canada and by the Religious Education Councils of the various provinces. It operates through boys' work programs under the direction of provincial boards. Taylor Statten, who attended High River conference, is the national Boys' Work secretary. All church organizations have representation on the national council. After delegates were billeted in houses there was an opening ceremony and service of worship conducted by Rev. Mr. Wilkinson of Cayley. Mr. Wallace Forgie, secretary of the Calgary Boys' Work board gave an explanation of the organization and programme of the conference. This was followed by the election of conference officers which resulted as follows: Pretor, Harry Powell, High River; Deputy Pretor, Glenallen Reed, Calgary; Scriptor, Earl Marcellus of Vulcan; Comptor, Aubrey Darrook of Calgary.

The conference met on Friday at 9 o'clock, and Deputy Pretor, Glenallen Reed, conducted the opening ceremony in the absence of the Grand Pretor, H. Powell, and Rev. Wm. McNichol, M.A., conducted the services of worship. During the morning session, the conference divided for group discussion, badge work, program planning and duty of officers. After that the boys indulged in group games. Sharp at 12 the conclave disbanded to pose for a photograph in front of the hall.

Rev. Peter Connell took the service of worship before the afternoon session. This was followed by the nomination of Tom Stanley as candidate for the Reconstructive party and Harry McCullough as candidate for the Constructive party.

Party platforms as prepared by the constructive and re-constructive parties in the Alberta Boys' Parliament and presented at the boys' work conference held in High River on Thursday and Friday last in the Town hall, looking forward to the elections for 1924 parliament, which meets in the parliament buildings, during Christmas week. George Holden of Cayley presented the platform of the Constructive party.

1. That a redistribution bill be passed making the provincial districts smaller and greater in number.

2. That the party favor the promotion of boys' work boards or similar bodies in each of the above districts, composed of interested men and older boys.

3. To encourage "Pioneer" Tuxis and Trail Ranger work.

4. That district camps be promoted in each section of the province.

5. That the provincial training camp (Camp Tuxis) be promoted more vigorously.

6. That it be the fixed resolve of the parliament to see that every group in the province attain at least to White Honor standard.

7. That the Finance Campaign be discussed by every member of parliament while in session and that campaign commissioners be appointed in each district to promote the campaign in that district.

Tom Stanley of High River presented the platform for the re-constructive party. The re-constructive party is everybody's party. So let us get together and promote C.S.E.T. work to the best of our ability. Slogan: "C.S.E.T. to the Limit."

1. To raise the moral standard of boy life by conducting an active campaign against alcoholic beverages, tobacco and gambling.

2. To stimulate a greater loyalty to the church.

3. To raise sufficient funds for the active operation of the work of the Boys' Work Board.

4. To emphasize more fully the necessity of a good school record to the success of C.S.E.T.

5. To assist with conferences, convales, summer camps and organization of new Trail Ranger Camps and Tuxis squares in all parts of the province.

6. To secure greater publicity for the C.S.E.T. movement as a whole, but not to emphasize the achievements of individual boys.

Then followed reports of group sessions, followed quickly by grand tournament of group and challenge games in which different groups competed. At six o'clock the delegates adjourned to Chalmers church where the ladies associations of the various churches united in giving the boys a banquet. Group yells and songs were given and after the banquet, Messrs. Statten and Forgie addressed the boys, after which the assembly retired from the banquet room to the town hall where they listened to a splendid address on boys' work by Mr. Taylor Statten.

TITLES COME HIGH

Advertising men tell us that the most important part of an advertisement is the headline. All authorities agree on that. But there they stop. Some of them insist that the headline should be four words long and no longer. Others insist just as strongly on as many words as it takes to tell the story.

All the foregoing was inspired by the novel contest Congoleum Company is running in Canada. A picture is shown and prizes offered for the best title. The title may be conversation, it may be a slogan or a bit of description. But it must not exceed twenty words in length.

The picture shown in the advertisements offers all kinds of suggestions for clever heads. It shows a very attractive entrance hall with three people. A young man has just come in out of the rain, his umbrella and raincoat dripping wet. An older woman is greeting him and a young lady is tripping gaily down the stairway to meet him. Chance for a good love story right here.

But the point of the picture is—all the water from the raincoat and umbrella is running right on the rug. No one seems the least interested in the pool of water. Some explanation must be made to satisfy good housekeepers that the attractive rug won't be ruined from such abuse. What is it to be?

Can you tell that story in twenty words or less? The one who does it best wins $500. Most everyone would cudge his or her brains to win that amount of money. A second prize of $200, a third prize of $100 and eight prizes of $25 are offered.

The conditions of this contest are very simple. You submit your titles on an entry blank. Every Congoleum dealer has these blanks. The title may be written in French or English. This contest runs from October 20th to November 1st but titles may be mailed Monday, November 3rd and still receive consideration.

Here's a tip for you. When you go to your nearest dealer for your entry blank, ask him to show you these rugs—and demonstrate their waterproof qualities. He will probably give you a good lead for your headline.

All the Congoleum dealers are offering special prizes on Congoleum Rugs during the Title Writing Contest, October 20th to November 1st.

KIRKCALDY NEWS

The members of the Kirkcaldy Women's Institute were guests of the Good Deeds branch on Thursday last. They thoroughly enjoyed their entertainment, and a number are justly proud of winning some of the prizes.

Speed on construction was demonstrated at Kirkcaldy in the building of the new elevator at this point for the Western Canada Flour Mills Company, to replace the one destroyed by fire some few weeks ago. There were at times twenty-four men employed on the job. The elevator has been in operation and receiving grain now for more than a week.

A local improvement that shares attention with the new depot and new elevator is the proper painting of the house, barn and other buildings on the farm property of Mr. Jos. Myers and they are not more than half a mile from these other improvements. Paint certainly adds to the appearance of any place, and Mr. Myers has set an example that can be profitably followed.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

Eight hours of a steady rain fell on Tuesday, the 28th, an unusual occurrence but which was very generally accepted as a good thing for the country, insuring top moisture for early operations next season.

Montreal is the world's greatest grain port. Sixty-one million bushels have passed through the port up to July 31 of this year, with three months still to go. The total figures for 1923 were 120,000,000 bushels which bid fair to be exceeded this year.

Indian farmers on the Blood Indian Reserve near Cardston, totalling more than 6000 acres, are raising wheat crops averaging more than thirty bushels to the acre this season.

British Columbia apples swept the boards in Birmingham, England, on October 24. The B.C. apple won 11 first prizes and 2 second prizes besides capturing the empire championship for her dessert apples.

Wheat that has arrived here so far has graded exceptionally high, the greater part being No. 1, Northern. About 90 per cent of it is finding its way to Vancouver. Up to the time of writing about 1,000,000 bushels of wheat have been shipped to the Pacific Coast port.

Canadians to the number of 27,486 returned to Canada from the United States during the first half of the present fiscal year, according to Immigration Department figures. Of this number 23,141 were Canadian born citizens, 2,632 were British subjects who had acquired domicile in Canada and later moved to the United States, and 1,713 naturalized Canadian citizens.

Ontario is evidently waiting until the last minute before ordering its winter supply of coal, in the hope that it will be possible to secure Alberta coal instead of the U.S. coal. Telegrams received in the office of the Trade Commissioner the past week from the fuel board at Ottawa indicate that the importation of American anthracite has been much below normal this season so far in Ontario, and that people in Ontario are anxious to know of the possibility of securing Alberta coal. Trade Commissioner Stutchbury has replied that it would be possible for Alberta to supply coal this winter to Ontario if the freight can be adjusted.

"The West is coming back, coming back strong; is, in fact, well on its way to that position right now. We are better off here in Western Canada than any part of the world at this moment," said Sir Augustus Nanton, president of the Dominion Bank, recently. Some recent evidences of the growth of Vancouver are as follows: Its population, which was 100,401, per the census of 1911, is now estimated at 247,128; in 1912 no wheat was exported; in 1923 the export was 54,619,188. The number of ocean-going vessels visiting Vancouver was 144 in 1912, was 837 last year. In the same period the value of manufactured products has grown from $17,470,000 to nearly $300,000,000.

Fifty British young men, the first party to take advantage of the plan to train British youths at the Vermilion School of Agriculture in Alberta for farm life, will arrive at Vermilion on Monday next to commence their special courses. It is anticipated that another party of fifty will come out before Christmas. The young men will be given special training which will fit them for life on Alberta farms, under a scheme whereby the British Overseas Settlement Board and the Alberta Department of Agriculture bear the cost between them. The young men are required to have sufficient funds only to pay for their keep during the winter's course. The instruction will be under the direction of W. J. Elliott, former principal of the Claresholm School of Agriculture.

Quong Sing, alias Joe Kong, laundry man of Brant, appeared before H. H. Wilson, J.P. at Blackie, on Thursday, charged with having liquor in a place not his residence. He was fined $100 and costs and in default of payment two months hard labor. On a second charge of keeping liquor for sale he was found guilty and a sentence of four months hard labor, without the option of a fine was imposed. He was taken to Lethbridge jail on Tuesday evening. Constable Holton prosecuted.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Paul of the Blackie district expect to leave shortly on an automobile trip, weather permitting, which should prove very interesting. Mr. Paul has transformed his auto into a moving domicile, with bed, dining fixtures, heater, etc. The purpose is to proceed leisurely along the way stopping a short time in the wilds of B.C. to shoot big game and proceeding from there through Washington, Oregon and on to Sunny California where they will remain until February.
